- Karnataka proposes common CET from next year

With a view to save students from the hardship of facing two entrance tests for seeking admission to professional courses, Karnataka government is considering to conduct a common examination for government, aided and private professional colleges next year.

The government would hold parleys early next month with private college managements which conduct a separate Common Entrance Test (CET) under its banner Consortium of Medical, Engineering and Dental Colleges of Karnataka (COMED-K), Minister for Higher Education, D H Shanakara Murthy, told reporters here.

The students have to attend the CET conducted by the state for admission to government and aided colleges and also that of the COMED-K, which has more professional colleges under its umbrella.

The government intends to decentralise conduct of CET exam by holding it at divisional and district headquarters, Murthy said, adding, the existing period of three months involved in conducting CET exam will be reduced to 45 days.

At least 8,000 engineering seats have remained vacant this year. (Source The Hindu)

- Karnataka Entrance Examination Authority (KEEA) to replace Karnataka CET Cell

The Karnataka Government is planning to disband the Karnataka CET Cell year and set up Karnataka Entrance Examination Authority (KEEA). The newly se up KEEA will conduct entrance exams from next year for all courses Medical, Engineering (earlier conducted by KCET Cell) and polytechnic, MBA/MCA, nursing, and other postgraduate medical/dental courses conducted by RGUHS.

The existing CET Cell conducts seat-selection process only for undergraduate medical/dental/engineering courses and lateral entry scheme for diploma holders. Once the Authority is in place, students seeking admission to engineering and medical courses need not appear for multiple entrance tests. Even other universities, agencies and government departments can outsource the entrance exams and seat-selection process to the Authority.

BANGALORE: The Karnataka decided to cut fees. With this, students coming under higher-category fees will pay Rs 2 lakh for medical, Rs 1.5 lakh for dental courses and Rs 60,000 for engineering courses from this academic year. "The government's subsidy per student is Rs 90,000 for medical, Rs 80,000 for dental and Rs 25,000 for engineering courses. Since we had already committed to reduce fees, we cannot disappoint students," medical education minister V S Acharya said. - Selection of doctor to cardiology course challenged in Karnataka High court

Three in-service doctors from the State, who had applied for selection to postgraduate superspeciality course in medical sciences, have challenged the selection of Jayashree Kharge, daughter of senior Congress leader and MLA, M. Mallikarjun Kharge for DM (superspeciality) course in cardiology. - Quotas only in PG courses in IIMs

Providing reservation without compromising on merit and quality is the tune the Oversight Committee is singing while planning the roadmap to implement 27 per cent reservation for the OBCs in elite educational institutions. The Committee is of the view that the cut-offs should not be lowered to accommodate or to fill the reserved seats. "There must be no unjustified demands to lower the admission standards in order to accommodate the enhanced intake," says the interim report of the Oversight committee. In IIMs, quotas should be given only in the areas where there is existing reservation for SC/ST, i.e., in the two year PG Diploma and equivalent programmes. Since IIMs other programmes like Fellow Programmes, Executive Development Programmes and Faculty Development Programmes require work experience and sponsorships, the government may not like to get into complications. The report said the IIMs are already under pressure and "Quotas should be phased out." Meanwhile, it has been decided to hike 196 seats at undergraduate level and 598 at post-graduate level in medical institutions falling under the central government's control. In the four-year B.E./B.tech in the seven IITs it will be an increase of 1479 seats. In IIMs, additional intakes approved in two years will see seats going up from 1791 to 1932 - an increase of 966. (SourceDNA India Aug.2, 2006)
